Harry B. Buckley
Director 1966-1978

Harry B. Buckley became the fourth Director of the Maryland Bureau of Mines on April 22, 1966. Mr. Buckley devoted his talents and energies to implementing the laws and regulations governing mining activities in service to the State of Maryland for nearly 29 years. The many changes made under Harry's directorship include: the first Maryland comprehensive strip mining law, enacted in 1967; the creation of the Land Reclamation Committee; and the first reclamation of abandoned mines using public funds.

Harry Buckley began his career in mining in 1934 in the deep mines of Garrett County and nearby West Virginia. From his first job as shale picker, he advanced to safety engineer during the sixteen years he worked for private industry.

Mr. Buckley began his career with the State on July 7, 1950, as a mine inspector and as a mine rescue specialist and in first aid work in the deep mines. Harry was instrumental in beginning the mobile mine rescue unit and was responsible for training rescue crews. Under Harry's leadership, Maryland's mine rescue crew won the National Mine Rescue Championship in 1951, at Columbus, Ohio. Those training the team were L. C. Hutson, vocational mine inspector for the University of Maryland, and Harry B. Buckley. Members of the team were: Carl Shell, captain; Chester Evans, map man; Carl Paugh, stretcher bearer; Lee Hartman, anchor man; and Richard Sherwood, patient. Harry retired December 31, 1978.

FATALITIES

Fatal accident to Orval Shoemaker (age 25), Keyser, West Virginia, at the mine of R.A.K. Coal Co., Inc., located near Barton, Maryland

On February 23, 1978, about 6:30 a.m., Paul D. Borrer, dozer operator (witness), and Leon Kimble, mechanic, arrived at the 005 work site in preparation to conduct repair work (preventive maintenance) on the bowl of the tractor-scraper. Borrer, with the help of Kimble, raised and blocked the bowl. Kimble, who was operating the controls of the tractor-scraper, raised the apron. (See sketch). About 7:00 a.m., Orval Shoemaker, first-class welder (victim), arrived at the site, at which time Kimble departed to another work area.

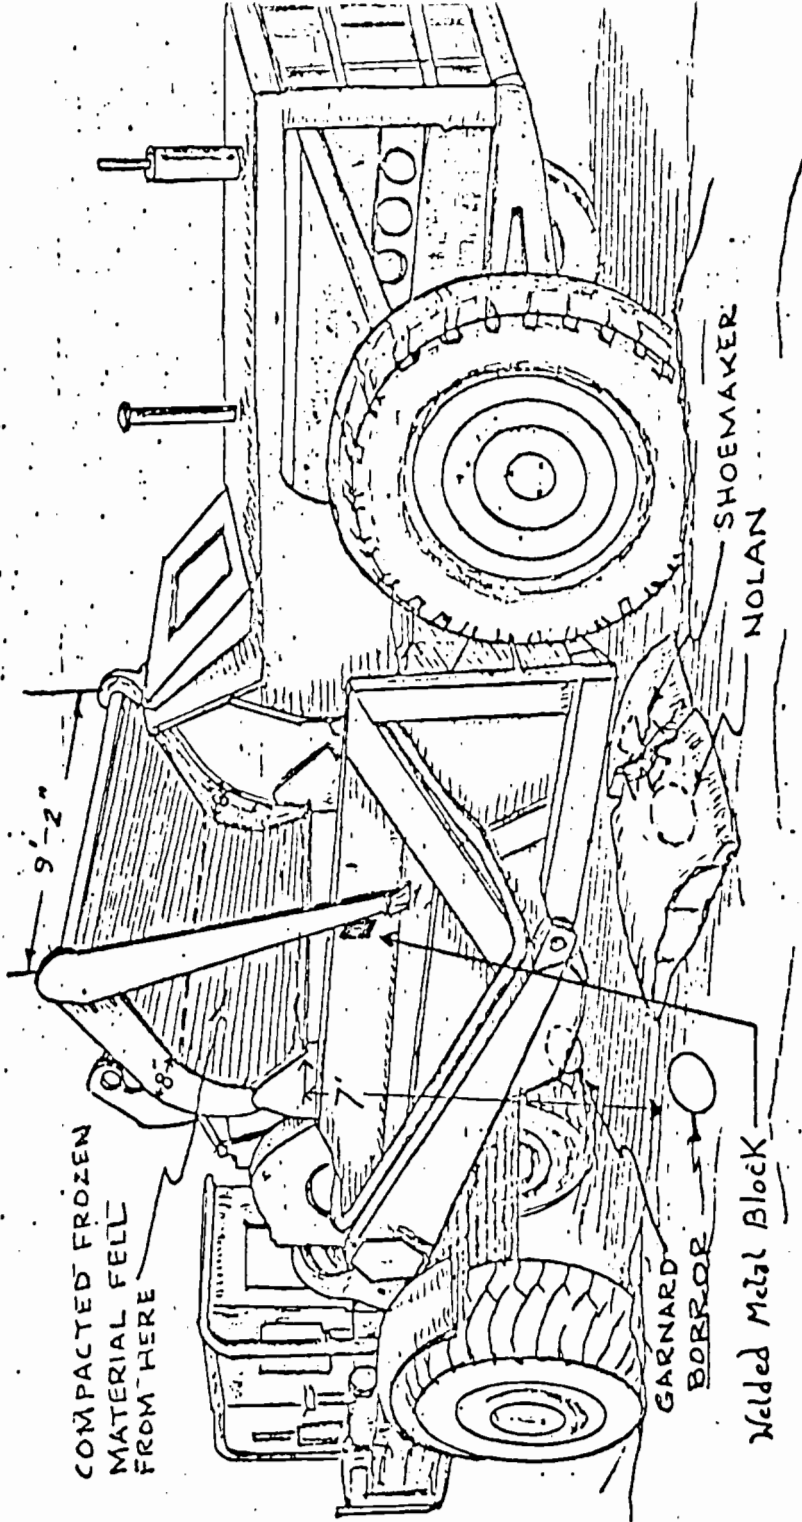

At this time, George E. Miller, shift foreman, arrived and conducted an examination of the area, including the tractor-scraper. However, he did not observe any unsafe condition.

Shoemaker (victim) and Borrer welded a metal block onto the bowl frame to prevent the apron from falling. Work continued, and while the two men were removing the cutter bars on the bowl, William F. Nolan, mechanic helper (victim), and Jimmie Garnard, welder (witness), arrived at the site.

Shortly after the cutter bars were repaired and then replaced on the bowl by the four men, Borrer and Garnard positioned themselves adjacent to the front wheels. Shoemaker (victim) and Nolan (victim) were positioned underneath the apron of the tractor-scraper tightening the bolts on the bowl cutter bars. Borrer was in the process of handing a wrench to Nolan (victim) when the frozen compacted soil, approximately 96 inches long, 37 inches wide, 8 inches thick, fell from the apron without warning, killing Shoemaker and resulting in serious injuries to Nolan. The frozen soil struck Borrer; however, he escaped without injury.

REVEGETATION OF STRIP MINED LANDS

The Bureau of Mines received planting reports totaling 1,200 acres eligible for revegetation bond release after the 1978 growing season which ended in September.

The State's surface mining rules and regulations require a minimum two-growing season evaluation period after planting to determine if adequate vegetation is present on the mined land before the revegetation bond, currently $600 per acre, is considered for release. Some of the criteria for revegetation bond release are (1) coverage with herbaceous material must exceed 80 percent, (2) bare areas can not exceed 2,500 sq. ft., (3) coverage with legume species must be 10 percent or greater, (4) there must be at least 700 living stems per acre when trees and shrubs are planted, and (5) erosion rills and gullies must be less than nine inches. Some areas may still require a longer evaluation even if they meet these criteria if more time is necessary to evaluate the "health" of the vegetation.

The Land Reclamation Committee voted to release 806 acres of the total acres eligible. These acres involve forty-nine permits operated by thirty-one different coal companies. Of the 806 acres approved for release, all were planted with a mixture of grasses and legume species to insure adequate erosion control protection. In addition to the herbaceous cover, trees for forestry purposes and trees and shrubs specifically planted for wildlife benefit were planted on 60 acres.

A revegetated strip mine creating ideal wildlife habitat. Strip mined areas can be used for pasturing, farming, woodland or recreational development if the landowner desires.

A steep slope stabilized using a combination of grasses, legumes and woody stems. Maryland's law prohibits strip mining on slopes greater than 20 degrees.

The primary reason for disapproval of eligible acres was failure to meet the requirement for 10 percent coverage with legume species. Erosion rills and gullies exceeding nine inches was the second most common reason for disapproval.

The general public was given an opportunity to participate in the revegetation bond release process by attending two tours conducted this past summer. This opportunity will be expanded during the summer of 1979 with more tours planned. A list of acres eligible for revegetation bond release will be publicized, and interested citizens will have an opportunity to visit these areas by notifying the Bureau of Mines.

A strip mine revegetated with a mixture of coniferous species planted in 1968. After 10 growing seasons the area is well stabilized and producing wood fiber at rates comparable to adjacent undisturbed lands. Proper reclamation requirements greatly reduce the possibility of unsuccessful revegetation and long-term deterioration of mined lands.

ABANDONED MINE LANDS RECLAMATION

A total of 214 acres of abandoned surface mined land was included in permits issued during 1978. These areas are proposed to be reaffected during mining operations and reclaimed under the conditions of permits at no expense to the State of Maryland.

Also during the year the Bureau entered into 9 contracts for reclamation of abandoned areas. These contracts included the reclamation of 64 acres of abandoned mine area at a total cost of $83,550.00. The source of these funds is the Bituminous Coal Open-Pit Mining Reclamation Fund.

Another area of Bureau participation in abandoned mine restoration work is the Deer Park Daylighting project. This is a demonstration project, in cooperation with the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency, to demonstrate the feasibility of abating abandoned deep mine drainage by daylighting—that is, by removing the remaining deep mine workings during surface mining and reclamation operations. The project was initiated in 1973 with construction beginning in 1975. Construction was approximately 95% completed by the end of 1978.

Meetings and Time

The Land Reclamation Committee meets at the City Building in Westernport, Maryland. All meetings are open to the public and are announced in the Maryland Register and local papers.

Functions and Duties of the Committee

The Land Reclamation Committee oversees land reclamation activities related to the surface mining of coal in Maryland. It is specifically directed by statute (Annotated Code of Maryland, Section 7-205/b/) to: “. . .study, recommend, and approve all procedures for reclamation, conservation, and revegetation of any area affected by open-pit mining within the State. . .”

Specific duties addressed by the committee during its monthly meetings include:

1. Review and approval of reclamation plans.
2. Review and approval of Annual Mining and Reclamation Progress Reports and Final Reports.
3. Establish amounts of revegetation bond for each operation.

The Land Reclamation Committee visits every site for which mining permit applications have been filed to determine the suitability of the reclamation plan. The Committee also examines sites for purposes of approving annual progress reports and final reports.
